Interpretive Exhibits

Gysbert's Inventory: A Reflection of 1665 Dutch Life

The legacy of the Dutch settlers of Wiltwyck lives on at the Matthewis Persen House. The house was originally owned by Gysbert Van Imbroch, a barber-surgeon. An inventory listing Gysbert's possessions at the time of his death in 1665 is brought to life through illustrations of clothing, kitchen items, medical supplies, books and other articles used in 17th century daily life. Step back in time with Gysbert's Inventory.

History At Your Fingertips

Visitors can see and touch high-quality reproductions of items found in Gysbert Van Imbroch's 1665 inventory. What does a powder horn actually look like?

What is a candle snuffer and how is it used? Answer these questions and more in with History At Your Fingertips!

Artifacts on Display

In 2000-2001, Professor Joe Diamond from SUNY New Paltz led an archaeological study at the Persen House, focusing on excavating the former kitchen's dirt floor. This study uncovered a diverse array of artifacts spanning centuries, including relics from ancient Esopus ancestors, 17th century Dutch settlers, Revolutionary War-era tavern patrons, 19th century tailors, and 1950s Farm Bureau workers. This exhibit showcases the fascinating discoveries from the excavation, offering insights into the rich history of the Persen House.

Special Exhibits

AFRICANS IN AMERICA AND ANTIQUITY

A Season Long Exhibit by TRANSART

The exhibition chronicles the history and culture of people of African descent in the Mid-Hudson Valley of New York State, showcasing recent triumphs and enduring struggles. It also reveals the legacy of a people who were forcibly brought to this land and highlights the cultural artifacts they carried with them. The exhibition also features a collection of instruments and elements used in various ceremonies and events such as life's milestones, religious worship, and work-related activities.

A Season Long Exhibit featuring Current Studies of the Ulster County Historian

Explore a sampling from the rich tapestry of our local history from Ulster County Historian Geoff Miller. Step into the Parlor of Mary C. Bruyn for a glimpse into domestic music making in early 19th century America. Retrace the building of the Ashokan Dam through songs published at the time by the NYC Board of Water Supply. Discover the vibrant legacy of Camp Woodland and the annual Catskill folk festival of the mid-1900s. Journey back to Kingston's School #8 before it became the home of the Kingston Library in the late 1970s as we reflect on its rich educational heritage and the community it served. This exhibit invites you to delve into these fascinating facets of Ulster County's past.

Celebrating the Past and Present of Ulster County July—September

An exhibit of street photography and mixed media by photographer Star Nigro highlighting un-staged moments captured throughout the small towns of our valley while incorporating a variety of materials such as maps, historically minded information and locally found objects as a means to visually connect the past with the present.
